Welcome to karlsruhe

As a "Gateway to the Black Forest", Karlsruhe is considered to be one of the sunniest towns in Germany and is surrounded with beautiful scenery. It owes its unique townscape as a "fan-shaped city" to its founder, Margrave Karl Wilhelm, who had his palace built at its centre in 1715, from where the roads emanate like rays.

Culture and art traditionally have a high profile as the Badisches Landesmuseum (Baden State Museum), the State Art Gallery as well as many other institutions prove. Karlsruhe is of particular importance in the cultural scene with the ZKM (Center for Art and Media Technology), the world's first media museum.

Extensive clothes shops and department stores, exquisite boutiques, modern shopping centres, hip trend shops and innovative specialist shops all attract shoppers to Karlsruhe.

Moreover, Karlsruhe is a "city on the countryside" with over 1,000 hectares of public parks, lakes and forests for active and varied leisure activities.

The proximity to France can be felt everywhere in the city, whether in the local cuisine, the excellent wines or the joie de vivre, which the locals exude.

Culture, nature, pleasure and the Baden lifestyle – there are many reasons to come to Karlsruhe.

We look forward to your visit!

Karlsruhe Palace

The Karlsruhe Palace was built between 1715 and 1718. For almost 200 years it was the residence and seat of the government of the Margrave, and then the Grand Dukes of Baden. Today the Palace houses the Baden State Museum. From the palace tower there is a fascinating view of the layout of Karlsruhe – "the fan-shaped city".

Market Square with pyramid

The Market Square with its pyramid, developed by the famous Karlsruhe municipal architect Friedrich Weinbrenner is probably the most well-known place in Karlsruhe and more or less forms the city centre.

Here, there is also the city landmark, the pyramid which was built in 1823. Underneath is the crypt of the "Konkordienkirche", which was demolished in 1807. It is here that the city's founder and namesake, Margrave Charles William of Baden-Durlach is buried.

In addition, the municipal Protestant church and the town hall are also located here.

Town Hall

The Town Hall was completed in 1825 using plans drawn up by the city architect Friedrich Weinbrenner. A statue of Mercury, the symbol for trade and commerce, graces the top of the town hall tower. The centre of the building features a pillared loggia. There is also a Glockenspiel here, dating from 1981. Inside the town hall a miniature version of the first automobile by inventor Carl Benz as well as a model from the inventor of the dandy horse, Baron Karl von Drais can be seen.

Municipal Protestant Church

The Municipal Protestant Church was built according to plans drawn up by the famous Karlsruhe architect Friedrich Weinbrenner, as the cathedral church of Baden, on the orders of Grand Duke Karl Friedrich. The foundation stone was laid in 1807 and the inauguration took place in 1816. The vestibule gable is support-ted by six high Corinthian columns. A gold-plated angel adorns the steeple. Under the central nave of the church is the former crypt of the Grand Duke's family.

Tip:

It is worth taking a look at the crypt. There are almost always interesting exhibitions there. And Weinbrenner's sarcophagus is located in an alcove directly underneath the entrance to the church

Parish Church of St. Stephan

The Parish Church of St. Stephan is the oldest Catholic church in Karlsruhe. The church, modelled on the Pantheon in Rome, was built and inaugurated between 1808 - 1814 by Friedrich Weinbrenner as a cross-shaped central structure with a dome. The patron saint is St. Stephen in recognition of the services of Princess Stephanie, an adoptive daughter of Napoleon. She had moved to Baden after her marriage and joined the Catholic community.

Grand Duke's Burial Chapel

The Grand Duke's Burial Chapel is atmospherically situated in the middle of the Hardtwald forest. It is the only royal building of that period in Baden to survive the Second World War undamaged. The crypt in the basement of the chapel is well worth seeing with its original stained-glass windows adorned with plant motifs.

Federal Constitutional Court and Federal Supreme Court

Karlsruhe symbolises the "Seat of Justice" and represents the modern, democratic, constitutional state of Germany. The highest German legal institutions are headquartered here: the Federal Constitutional Court, the Federal Supreme Court and the Federal Public Prosecutor's office. The Federal Constitutional Court has had its seat in Karlsruhe from the outset. It is situated between the palace square and the Botanical gardens. The open design of the official building is supposed to give the impression of democratic transparency.

Platz der Grundrechte

"Platz der Grundrechte" (The square of fundamental rights) was laid down as a gift from the city of Karlsruhe to the Federal Constitutional Court in 2005. Here there are 24 double-sided signs, which deal with the topics of law and injustice – with statements from judges, lawyers and citizens who have come into conflict with the law.

Ständehaus memorial

The Karlsruhe Ständehaus was the first separate new Parliament building in Germany and represents 125 years of parliamentary history in Baden. It is rightfully considered to be a pioneer of democracy in Germany. The "Ständehaus memorial" has been a reminder of this tradition since 1993. Here the federal state parliamentary history of Baden is presented in an exhibition.

Prinz-Max-Palais

The Prinz-Max-Palais has a turbulent past. Originally the grandiose retirement residence of a large-scale entrepreneur, it then became the palace of the high nobility of Baden, residence of the last imperial chancellor, former seat of the Federal Constitutional Court and university building. Today the building houses the City Museum, the Museum of Upper Rhine literature, the Literary Society as well as the children's library.

Creative park "Alter Schlachthof" (Old slaughterhouse)

As well as the classical cultural facilities, for a few years now young creatives have been mixing things up a bit at the Creative centre "Alter Schlachthof". Only the unusual names like "Alte Hackerei" (Meat chopping) or "Fettschmelze" (Fat rendering) hark back to the earlier use of the premises, which was finally shut down in 2006. In the impressive red brick buildings today you will find artists' collectives, studio communities, classical craftsmen, architecture offices, agencies for new media as well as the Karlsruhe film board.

In the east of Karlsruhe a lively urban district with gastronomy and cultural establishments has sprung up through the co-operation of the many media workers and creative artists. Thus, the cultural centre TOLLHAUS offers a contemporary programme of comedy, dance, world music, jazz, festivals and open air events, whilst "Substage" is considered to be one of the most established live music clubs for all kinds of rock music in Baden-Württemberg.

The Zoological City Gardens, which are also known as "the Green lung of Karlsruhe", are at 150 years old one of the oldest zoos in Germany. The particular attraction lies in the combination of zoo and gardens with 800 trees from numerous countries as well as themed gardens like the Japanese garden or the rose garden. Two lakes, connected by a canal, are in the centre of the park, from where you can view the gardens and the generously sized animal facilities by gondoletta – boats steered by a wire rope pull.

The newest attraction is the Exotic House: In a former indoor swimming pool numerous new animal guests await visitors, such as sloths, armadillos and squirrel monkeys in an impressive, recreated rocky landscape as well as numerous aquariums and terrariums.

With nearly 30,000 inhabitants, Durlach is the largest district in Karlsruhe and is often described as the "mother" of Karlsruhe.

Medieval flair has left its stamp on the old part of Durlach with its picturesque market place, town walls, the palace square and the narrow lanes and old walls. Small cafés and restaurants await you.

Places of interest

Karlsburg Castle

Karlsburg Castle is situated in the centre of Durlach. Only a small section of the first residential palace from Margrave Karl Wilhelm II remains. Today, the Pfingzgäumuseum, housed in the rooms of the baroque Karlsburg, shows the history of the town of Durlach from its establishment up until today, and the Carpathian-German Museum is dedicated to the culture of the Carpathian-Germans from Slovakia. Objects relating to the history of art, culture, society and everyday life are displayed.

Turmberg and Turmberg funicular railway

The 256 metre high Turmberg is the local hill and the landmark of Durlach. There is a comfortable alternative running parallel to get to the top of the 529 steps (affectionately named "witches' steps"): the Turmberg funicular railway. It has been operating on the Turmberg since 1888 and is one of Germany's oldest funicular railways.

The region around Karlsruhe

Karlsruhe is not only surrounded by wonderful forests, picturesque riparian woodlands along the Rhine and sun-drenched plains: nearby Alsace, the Palatinate Forest and the Black Forest are all exciting trip destinations. The perfect addition to a city experience! (The kilometres given indicate the approximate distance)

Albtal

The Albtal (Alb valley) is right on Karlsruhe's doorstep – a beautiful and romantic landscape of rivers, meadows and valleys at the northern edge of the Black Forest. The valley owes its name to the Alb River, which gently winds its way from the thermal spring, Bad Herrenalb, past the Frauenalb monastery ruins with its baroque double towers to Ettlingen with its palace and picturesque old town.

Northern Black Forest

30 km

The northern Black Forest attracts visitors with its primordial nature, where valleys and peaks gracefully alternate. Natural areas like the Sommerberg mountain with its tree-top walk and the Kaltenbronn lead hikers into unspoiled forests with lakes and upland moor. The Monbachtal valley with its mossy, wild romantic paths is a challenge for cyclists. The natural environment offers space for experiences and discoveries.

Black Forest National Park

65 km

The first national park in Baden-Württemberg has a total area of approx. 100km². Here, the landscape is protected in its entirety, with mountains, forests and lakes. The national park extends in two branches along the Black Forest High Road between Baden-Baden and Freudenstadt. Maps and touring route suggestions are available at the Ruhstein visitor centre. The extensive network of cycling paths and footpaths allows visitors to explore nature, while the adventure paths such as the Lothar trail, the Wilderness trail and the Lynx trail are extremely popular, and not only with children.

terms and conditions

for the Karlsruhe Card

Dear guests of the City of Karlsruhe,
With the Karlsruhe Card, Karlsruhe Tourismus GmbH and participating service partners offer you special services and benefits to help make your stay in Karlsruhe an unforgettable experience. In offering this facility, it is important that certain reciprocal rights and obligations are clearly understood, and these are laid down in the following Terms and Conditions of Use. Please read these terms and conditions carefully before using the card and taking advantage of the benefits it provides.

1. Basic provisions, participants and subject of these Terms and Conditions of Use

- 1.1. The Karlsruhe Card is hereinafter referred to as the "Card", the buyer of the Card is referred to as the "Cardholder". The issuer of the Card and the party to the card use contract with the Cardholder is Karlsruhe Tourismus GmbH, hereinafter referred to as "KTG".
- 1.2. "Service partners" within the meaning of these conditions are institutions, companies, independent operators, traders and facilities which provide the respective services and benefits to the Cardholders and are specified as a service provider in the currently applicable service list for the Card.
- 1.3. The sales outlets have no performance obligation with respect to the Cardholder regarding performance, either as a key contractual obligation or as an ancillary contractual obligation. The same applies for KTG as the issuer of the Card, except with regard to services or benefits which KTG itself undertakes to provide.
- 1.4. The sales outlets, the service partners and KTG do not have the status of a package tour operator or travel agent. With regard to the status of package tour operator, this only applies to the extent that the above-mentioned participants do not appear, in the meaning of the principles of Article 651a par. 2 of the German Civil Code (Bürgerliches Gesetzbuch – BGB), to provide an integrated package of contractually envisaged services as their own service.

2. Legal basis, information und warranties of third parties

- 2.1. The entire legal and contractual relationships between KTG and the Cardholder within the framework of the card use contract and between the Cardholder and the service partner within the framework of the contractual and use relationship regarding the respective services are subject exclusively to German law, except where mandatory provisions of EU law provide otherwise in favour of the Cardholder for contracts with cardholders from EU Member States.
- 2.2. The contractual and service relationship between the Cardholder and the service partners is subject to the relevant provisions of these Terms and Conditions of Use and, if they have been effectively agreed or are generally effective under the provisions of law, their terms and conditions of business and/or terms and conditions of service or carriage, as well as the provisions of law applicable to the service relationship.
- 2.3. Through the issuance and use of the Card, no contractual obligations arise between the Cardholder and KTG or the sales outlets with regard to the services themselves. The respective service partner alone is obliged with respect to the Cardholder to render the service or grant the benefit with regard to the respective service, price reduction or other benefit and not KTG, the host or the sales outlet, except where their own offers are concerned.

3. Payment for the Card and relationship of the card services to other services of the service partners

- 3.1. The currently advertised prices apply for the purchase of the Card. Up to the conclusion of the card use contract, price increases relative to the advertised prices are possible.
- 3.2. If the Card provides benefits a precondition for which is the conclusion of a contract giving rise to a payment obligation with the respective service partner, the discount will be granted on the current prices of the service partner applicable at the time of the conclusion of the contract. If discounts are not granted as a percentage of the service partner's price, in the event of a price increase of the service partner the discount will not be adjusted in line with the increased prices of the service partner.

4. Service obligations; type and scope of service, restrictions on the services and exclusion from use

- 4.1. By issuing the Card, KTG enables the Cardholder to take advantage of the services or benefits specified in the currently applicable service list for the Card.
- 4.2. When a free-of-charge service and/or the discount is claimed in accordance with the service description for the Card, a contractual relationship is established with the respective service partner on claiming the service or discount.
- 4.3. The type and scope of the services and/or benefits for the Cardholder are specified exclusively in the service list applicable at the time when the Card is issued, which will be provided to the Cardholder together with the Card or generally advertised/announced.
- 4.4. The service partners shall only be obliged to render their services in accordance with the general terms and conditions of their business activities, particularly taking into account advertised service periods, opening hours and general conditions (e.g. weather conditions).
- 4.5. The service partners can restrict the advertised services or benefits entirely or partially, particularly their timeframe, provided that there are practical reasons for doing so. These include, in particular, obstacles to performance due to weather conditions, requirements or orders of governmental authorities, maintenance work or repairs, measures for reasons related to road safety, undue congestion or overcrowding of facilities or other, similarly practical reasons.

5. Validity of the Card

- 5.1. The Card services/benefits can only be claimed in the advertised effective year and for the respective period of validity. Interruptions of the period of use and later resumption of use are not permitted. Only continuous use for the days covered by the Card's validity is permitted. Distribution of the days of use over various stays or non-contiguous calendar days is not allowed. The above provisions also apply if the Cardholder for reasons related to his/her person or within his/her sphere of influence, is unable to make full or further use of the Card after commencement of validity. There is no entitlement to the transfer of the Card and/or its performances to future stays or other persons.

6. The use of the Card; obligations and liability of the Cardholder

- 6.1. In order to take advantage of the services, the Cardholder must produce the original card and present it to the service partner before taking advantage of the service, for electronic verification or visual inspection.
- 6.2. The Cardholder must if requested produce a valid official identity document bearing a photograph. If he/she is unable to do so, the service partner can refuse to render the performance. With regard to age-related performances and benefits for the Cardholder or his/her entitled relatives, the service partner can demand appropriate proof of age.

- 6.3. If the Card is lost or stolen or becomes defective, the Cardholder must immediately report the incident to the accommodation facility or the issuing body. There is no entitlement to free-of-charge issuance of a new Card.

7. Right to make changes to the card services and the terms and conditions of use

- 7.1. KTG and the service partners reserve the right to change the services as defined in the currently applicable service list for practical reasons, by way of a unilateral declaration or public announcement. The same applies to changes to these terms and conditions of use by KTG.
- 7.2. Any changes after the issue of the Card are excluded for the period of validity applicable to the respective Cardholder.

8. Cancellation, failure to take advantage of card performances and rescission

- 8.1. The Cardholder is advised that under the provisions of law (Article 312g par. 2 sentence 1 No. 9 BGB) there is no cancellation right with regard to contracts on guest cards and taking advantage of the relevant services and benefits as contracts on services in connection with recreational activities which are concluded through distance selling (letters, catalogues, telephone calls, faxes, e-mails, messages sent through mobile services (text messages) or radio or telemedia). However, a cancellation right does exist if the contract was not concluded through distance selling but outside business premises, unless the oral negotiations on which the conclusion of the contract is based were conducted upon a previous order being placed by the consumer. In the latter case, a cancellation right also does not exist.
- 8.2. If the Cardholder, for reasons for which KTG, the service partners, the hosts or sales outlets are not responsible, fails in whole or in part to take advantage of card performances, he/she will not be entitled to a refund of the purchase price. However, KTG will repay saved expenses of the service partners, as soon as and provided that they are actually reimbursed by the service partners and provided that remuneration is not payable to the service partners under the terms of the arrangements made with them in the event that the performances or benefits are not claimed.
